1.0 WELCOME

Welcome to Parakeet Communities LLC ("Parakeet" or "Company")! We hope that your employment with us will be an exciting and rewarding experience. We pride ourselves on being resident-focused, relevant, and open to new ideas. We're glad to have you on board.

We are continuously transforming the way we operate. We seek to innovate, expand, and make the lives of our team members better. Our team includes our residents, employees, vendors, and stakeholders—together we are a "flock," working together and soaring together to new heights.

Please take time to read our Employee Handbook ("Handbook") carefully and completely, as it sets out the basic rules and guidelines concerning your employment. The employment policies and benefits summarized in this Handbook are written for all team members. While the Company complies with all federal, state, and local employment laws in the jurisdictions in which it operates, no employee handbook can address every situation that may arise in the workplace. Accordingly, if you have any questions about your employment or the Company's policies, you may contact Human Resources.

This Handbook supersedes any previously issued employee handbook or policy statements regarding the subjects addressed, and the Company reserves the right to further modify, supplement, or rescind any of the provisions of the Handbook at any time. Nothing in this document is intended to create a contract of employment or guarantee of work for any duration.

As we expand across the country, Parakeet will continue to provide every resident with the best living experience possible. With strong talent like you on board, our potential is limitless. We could not accomplish what we do every day without our employees. We're very pleased to welcome you to Parakeet and we look forward to working with you!

Sincerely,

Austin Berk, CEO

Jon Wyss, CIO

2.4 At-Will Employment

Your employment with Parakeet is at all times at-will. This means that you can terminate your employment with the Company at any time, with or without notice or cause. Likewise, the Company can end your employment at any time, without or without notice and for any lawful reason.

Nothing in this Handbook or any other Company document should be understood as creating a contract of employment for any specific duration or on any particular terms or conditions. Only the CEO has the authority to make promises or negotiate about guaranteed or continued employment, and any such promises are only effective if placed in writing and signed by the CEO. If a written contract between you and the Company is inconsistent with this handbook, the written contract is controlling.

Please note that nothing in this Handbook will be interpreted, applied, or enforced in a way that interferes with or restrains our employees from discussing their wages or working conditions pursuant to their rights to do so under Section 7 of the National Labor Relations Act.

2.5 Handbook Modifications

This Handbook is our attempt to keep you informed of the general terms and expectations of your employment, including Parakeet Communities' policies and procedures. With the exception of the at-will employment policy, the Company reserves the right to revise, add, or delete content from the Handbook as necessary, with or without notice to employees. However, when changes are made, we endeavor to communicate them in a timely fashion, typically in a written supplement to the Handbook or in a posting on a Company platform.

3.0 EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY

3.1 Equal Employment Opportunity Policy

Parakeet is committed to the principles of equal employment. We comply with all federal, state, and local laws providing equal employment opportunities, and all other employment laws and regulations. As such, the Company maintains a work environment that is free of harassment, discrimination, and retaliation on the basis of age, race (including traits historically associated with race, such as hair texture, afro hairstyles, and protective hairstyles like braids, twists, and locks), color, national origin, ancestry, citizenship, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression (including transgender status), pregnancy (including childbirth, lactation, and related medical conditions), physical or mental disability or illness, medical condition, genetic information (including testing and characteristics), AIDS/HIV status, marital status, family responsibilities, credit history, certain arrest/conviction records, domestic violence victim status, military or veteran status, receipt of public assistance, participation in lawful off-duty conduct (to the extent not in direct conflict with the Company's essential business interests), or any other status protected by federal, state, or local laws. This policy extends to all aspects of employment, including but not limited to recruitment, hiring, placement, transfers, trainings, promotions, compensation, terminations, and the various other conditions and privileges of employment.

All employees are responsible for upholding these principles. As set forth in greater detail below, all violations of this policy must be reported immediately to a manager and/or to the Human Resources Department. Parakeet prohibits retaliation against team members who provide truthful information regarding, complain in good faith about, or assist in the investigation of any complaint of discrimination.

If you have questions regarding any aspect of this policy, please contact Human Resources.

3.2 Policy Against Workplace Harassment

Parakeet prohibits all types of unlawful harassment, including harassment based upon an individual's age, race (including traits historically associated with race, such as hair texture, afro hairstyles, and protective hairstyles like braids, twists, and locks), color, national origin, ancestry, citizenship, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression (including transgender status), pregnancy (including childbirth, lactation, and related medical conditions), physical or mental disability or illness, medical condition, genetic information (including testing and characteristics), AIDS/HIV status, marital status, family responsibilities, credit history, certain arrest/conviction records, domestic violence victim status, military or veteran status, receipt of public assistance, participation in lawful off-duty conduct (to the extent not in direct conflict with the Company's essential business interests), or any other status protected by federal, state, or local laws. All forms of harassment of, or by, team members, managers, vendors, visitors, or residents are strictly prohibited and will not be tolerated.

Sexual Harassment

Sexual harassment is defined as unwelcome sexual advances, requests for sexual favors, and other verbal or physical conduct of a sexual nature (or based upon gender) where (1) submission to such conduct is made either explicitly or implicitly as a term or condition of an individual's employment; (2) submission to, or rejection of such conduct by an individual is used as the basis for employment decisions affecting such individual; or (3) such conduct has the purpose or effect of unreasonably interfering with an individual's work performance or creating an intimidating, hostile, or offensive work environment. Sexual harassment can occur between a supervisor and a subordinate employee, between coworkers, or between the Company's employees and visitors, residents, vendors, or clients.

While it is not possible to list all of the circumstances that may constitute sexual harassment, the following are some examples:

- Unwelcome requests for sexual favors.
- Lewd or derogatory comments or jokes.

- Comments regarding sexual behavior or the body of another.
- Sexual innuendo and certain vocal activity, such as catcalls or whistles.
- Obscene letters, notes, emails, invitations, photographs, cartoons, articles, or other written or pictorial materials of a sexual nature.
- Repeated requests for romantic dates after being informed that interest is unwelcome.
- Retaliating against another for refusing a sexual advance or reporting an incident of possible sexual harassment to the Company or any government agency.
- Offering or providing favors or employment benefits such as promotions, favorable evaluations, favorable assigned duties or shifts, etc., in exchange for sexual favors.
- Any unwanted physical touching or assault, or the blocking or impeding of movement.
- Spreading or participating in the dissemination of gossip or rumors of a sexual nature related to coworkers.

Other Harassment

Other workplace harassment is verbal or physical conduct that insults or shows hostility or aversion towards another on the basis of a protected category other than sex, including age, race, national origin, ancestry, disability, pregnancy, religion, or any of the other protected categories listed above. The following non-exhaustive list contains examples of conduct that may constitute workplace harassment:

- The use of disparaging or abusive words or phrases, slurs, negative stereotyping, or threatening, intimidating, or hostile acts that relate to the protected categories listed above.
- Written or graphic material displayed or circulated in the workplace (whether by email, voicemail, physical posting, or otherwise) that insults, stereotypes, or exhibits aversion or hostility towards an individual or group because of that person's or group's membership in a protected category.
- A display of symbols, slogans, or items that are associated with hate or intolerance towards any select group.

3.3 Discrimination & Harassment Complaint Procedure

Any employee who believes he or she has witnessed or been subjected to unlawful harassment, discrimination, or retaliation by another employee, supervisor, manager, or third party doing business with the Company must report such behavior immediately to Human Resources. If the subject of the complaint is in Human Resources Department, or if the Human Resources Department does not respond or otherwise fails to follow this policy, the complainant must promptly elevate the matter to the Chief Executive Officer.

All allegations of misconduct will be investigated by impartial, qualified internal personnel, unless external involvement is warranted. The investigation will be conducted in a manner that is fair, timely, and thorough. Information will be received in confidence and disclosed only to the extent necessary to investigate and resolve the matter. If misconduct is found during the Company's investigation, appropriate remedial measures will be taken.

Parakeet prohibits retaliation against any person because the individual has lodged a complaint or otherwise opposed unlawful conduct, or because the person has assisted or participated in an investigation or proceeding related to alleged unlawful harassment, discrimination, or retaliation.

3.4 Disability & Pregnancy-Related Accommodations

Parakeet complies with the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), the Pregnancy Discrimination Act, the Pregnant Workers Fairness Act (PWFA), and all applicable state and local fair employment practices laws. The Company is committed to providing equal employment opportunities to qualified individuals with disabilities, including those disabilities related to pregnancy, childbirth, and related conditions.

Consistent with this commitment, Parakeet will provide reasonable accommodation(s) to an otherwise qualified individual where appropriate to allow the individual to perform the essential functions of his/her job unless doing so would impose an undue hardship on the Company. If you require an accommodation because of your disability, it is your responsibility to notify Human Resources as soon as is practicable. You may be asked to include relevant information such as:

- A description of the proposed accommodation.
- The reason you need accommodation.
- How the accommodation will help you perform the essential functions of your job.

After receiving your request, the Company will engage with you in an interactive dialogue to determine the precise limitations of your disability and explore potential reasonable accommodations. The Company is not required to make the specific accommodation requested by an employee. However, alternative accommodations which do not impose an undue hardship on the Company may be arranged.

For employees with pregnancy-related disabilities or conditions, reasonable accommodations may include (but are not necessarily limited to):

- More frequent or longer paid or unpaid breaks.
- Time off, with or without pay, to attend to a pregnancy complication or recover from childbirth.
- Acquisition or modification of equipment or seating.
- Temporary transfer to a less strenuous or hazardous position.
- Job restructuring.
- Light duty or assistance with manual labor.
- Private, non-bathroom space for expressing breast milk.
- A modified work schedule.

The Company may need your permission to obtain additional information from your medical provider. All medical information received by the Company in connection with an accommodation request will be treated as confidential.

If leave is provided as a reasonable accommodation, such leave may run concurrently with leave under the federal Family and Medical Leave Act and/or other leaves provided for under state or federal law. Qualified employees who believe they have been denied a reasonable accommodation must report this information to Human Resources, or if Human Resources is the cause of the accommodation denial, to the Chief Executive Officer of the Company. The Company will not discriminate or retaliate against team members for requesting disability or pregnancy-related accommodations.

3.5 Accommodations for Nursing Mothers

The Company provides nursing mothers with reasonable unpaid break time to express milk for their infant child(ren) for up to one year following the child's birth (unless further extended by state law). If you are nursing, you will be provided with a functional space, other than a restroom, that is shielded from view and free from intrusion from coworkers and the public.

Expressed milk may be stored in Company refrigerators. Sufficiently mark or label your milk to avoid confusion by other team members who may share the refrigerator. Break time should, if possible, be taken concurrently with any other break time already provided.

If you are a non-exempt employee, clock out for any time taken that does not run concurrently with your normally scheduled rest periods. You must make reasonable efforts to not disrupt Company operations. You are encouraged to discuss the length and frequency of your breaks with your manager.

Employees who telework or partake in visual virtual meetings will likewise be free from observation by Company-provided video systems, computer cameras, web-conferencing platforms, and the like.

3.6 Religious Accommodations

Parakeet treats team members equally and with respect and recognizes the diversity of employees' religious beliefs. Team members may request an accommodation if their religious beliefs require a deviation from the Company's dress code, or from an individual's schedule, basic job duties, or other terms or conditions of employment.

The Company will consider an employee's specific request but reserves the right to offer an alternative accommodation, to the extent consistent with applicable law. Some of the factors the Company will consider in identifying an appropriate accommodation include cost, the effect the accommodation will have on current established policies, and any burden it will place on the Company's operations and team members. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Company will not question the validity of an employee's sincerely held religious beliefs.

If you require a religious accommodation, please contact Human Resources.

4.0 HIRING & ONBOARDING

4.1 Employment Authorization Verification

New hires will be required to complete Section 1 of federal Form I-9 on the first day of paid employment and must present acceptable documents authorized by the U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services proving identity and employment authorization no later than the third business day following the start of employment with Parakeet Communities. If you are currently employed and have not complied with this requirement or if your status has changed, inform your manager.

If you are authorized to work in this country for a limited period of time, you will be required to submit proof of renewed employment eligibility prior to expiration of that period to remain employed by the Company.

4.2 New Hires & Introductory Periods

The first 90 days of your employment is considered an introductory period. During this period, you will become familiar with Parakeet and your job responsibilities, and we will have the opportunity to monitor the quality and value of your performance and make any necessary adjustments in your job description or responsibilities. During this time you should ask as many questions as you can. We strongly encourage you to talk to everyone on the team. This is your chance to identify the areas in which you can make the most impact on the Company, and we cannot emphasize this enough: ASK QUESTIONS!

Your introductory period with the Company can be shortened or lengthened, as deemed appropriate by management and Human Resources. Completion of this introductory period does not imply guaranteed or continued employment. Nothing that occurs during or after this period should be construed as a change in the "at-will" nature of your employment.

5.0 STANDARDS OF CONDUCT & PERFORMANCE

5.1 Conflicts of Interest

Employees are expected to avoid any situation which involves or may involve a conflict between their personal interest and the interest of Parakeet. Employees must act in the best interest of the Company in the performance of their duties. If there is any actual or potential conflict of interest between you and a competitor, supplier, distributor, or contractor to the Company, you must promptly disclose it in writing to your manager.

If an actual or potential conflict of interest is determined to exist, the Company will take such steps as it deems necessary to reduce or eliminate this conflict.

5.2 Code of Ethics

Parakeet employees are expected to conduct business honestly and ethically wherever operations are maintained. We strive to improve the quality of our service, products, and operations while maintaining a reputation of honesty, fairness, respect, responsibility, integrity, trust, and sound business judgment. Our managers and team members are expected to adhere to high standards of business and personal integrity. We expect that officers, directors, and team members will not knowingly misrepresent the Company and will not speak on behalf of the Company unless specifically authorized.

All known or suspected ethical violations must be immediately reported to Human Resources and/or to the CEO. Violations of the Code of Ethics may result in disciplinary action, up to and including termination of employment. The degree of discipline imposed may be influenced by the existence of voluntary disclosure of any ethical violation and whether or not the violator cooperated in any subsequent investigation. The Company strongly prohibits retaliation against whistleblowers for their good faith reporting of ethical and legal violations to the Company (through proper channels) or to appropriate government agencies.

5.3 Standards of Conduct

Parakeet wishes to create a work environment that promotes job satisfaction, respect, responsibility, integrity, and value for all our team members, residents, customers, and other stakeholders. We all share in the responsibility of improving the quality of our work environment. While it is impossible to list everything that could be considered misconduct in the workplace, outlined here is a common sense list of serious infractions that could result in disciplinary action, up to and including immediate termination of employment. This policy is not intended to limit the Company's right to discipline or discharge team members for any reason permitted by law.

Examples of inappropriate conduct include:

- Violation of the policies and procedures outlined in this Handbook.
- Being under the influence of alcohol, or possessing, using, distributing, selling, or negotiating the sale of illegal drugs or other controlled substances, while at work, on Company property, or engaging in Company business.
- Falsifying records or reporting inaccurate hours worked by you or any other team member.
- Providing knowingly inaccurate, incomplete, or misleading information when speaking on behalf of the Company or in the preparation of any employment-related documents, including but not limited to job applications, personnel files, employment review documents, intracompany communications, or expense records.
- Embezzlement, theft, or destruction of Company property.
- Possessing potential hazardous property (where not permitted) such as firearms, weapons, chemicals, etc., without prior authorization.
- Fighting or harassing (as defined in our Equal Employment Opportunity (EEO) Policy) any resident, fellow employee, vendor, or customer.

- Unauthorized disclosure of trade secrets or other proprietary, confidential, or commercially sensitive information (including financial reports, sales records, business strategies/plans, product development information, resident or vendor lists, non-public patent information, etc.) belonging to the Company or any of its partners, contractors, suppliers, or vendors.
- Refusing or failing to follow directions or perform a requested or required job task (insubordination).
- Refusing or failing to follow safety rules and procedures.
- Excessive tardiness or absences.
- Smoking in non-designated areas.
- Working unauthorized overtime.
- Soliciting fellow employees on Company premises during working hours.
- Failing to dress according to Company policy.
- Using obscene or harassing (as defined by our EEO policy) language in the workplace.
- Engaging in outside employment that interferes with your ability to perform your job at Parakeet.
- Gambling on Company premises.
- Lending keys or keycards to Company property to unauthorized persons.

Additionally, as a minimum standard of conduct, employees are expected to treat each customer, resident, vendor, and visitor with the utmost respect and courtesy. A professional demeanor must be maintained at all times. Accordingly, employees should avoid long, personal discussions with residents during work hours and refrain from discussing internal Parakeet affairs with non-employees.

Employees who work in close contact with residents and other staff are expected to be thoroughly familiar with the rules of professional conduct. Our customers and residents support our business and thereby generate our wages. If you experience conflict with a customer, resident, vendor, or visitor and are unable to reach a swift resolution, you must notify your manager immediately. Nothing in this policy, however, is intended to limit employees' rights under Section 7 of the National Labor Relations Act to discuss with others their wages, benefits, or other terms and conditions of employment.

5.4 Employee Discipline

Employees must be aware of and abide by existing rules and policies, and must also perform their job duties to the best of their ability and to the standards set forth in their job description or as otherwise established. Violation of Parakeet's policies or procedures may result in disciplinary action, including demotion, suspension with or without pay, and/or termination of employment. Under certain circumstances, the Company supports the use of progressive discipline to address issues such as poor work performance or misconduct.

Progressive discipline is designed to correct deficiencies and prevent recurrence of undesirable behavior and/or performance issues.

Typically, progressive discipline begins with a verbal warning, then may progress to one or more written warnings. Where the quality or value of an employee's work fails to meet expectations, the Company may implement a performance improvement plan. If the performance or inappropriate conduct is not thereafter sufficiently improved, a demotion, suspension, or involuntary termination may result. Notwithstanding these basic steps, the Company may combine or skip steps in the process depending on the facts of the situation and the nature of the offense. Factors used in determining the appropriate measure of discipline include the employee's overall work history/record, whether the offense has been repeated despite additional coaching or training, and the impact that the conduct or performance issue has on the organization. The Company at all times reserves the right to determine the appropriate level of discipline

5.5 Separation of Employment

Separation of employment may occur for several reasons, including:

- Resignation: Although we hope your employment with us will be a mutually-rewarding experience, we understand that varying circumstances cause employees to voluntarily resign their employment. Resigning employees are asked to provide two-weeks' notice (four weeks for managers), preferably in writing, in order to facilitate a smooth transition. An employee who provides less than the notice requested may, depending on the circumstances, be deemed ineligible for rehire.

- Job abandonment: If you fail to show up for work for a period of three (3) consecutive days, or to call in with an acceptable reason for the absence, you will be considered to have abandoned your job and voluntarily resigned from your employment with Parakeet. Employees who are separated due to job abandonment are typically ineligible for rehire.

- Involuntary termination: Employees of Parakeet are employed on an at-will basis, and the Company retains the right to terminate any employee at any time.

Unless state law requires sooner payment, separating employees will receive their final paycheck on the Company's next regularly-scheduled payday.

5.6 Return of Company Property

Company property is defined as any piece of technology, equipment, furnishing, vehicle, building, or supply owned, leased, or otherwise in the custodial care of the Company or any person acting as a company representative. It is the responsibility of each employee to ensure proper use and maintenance of Company property. Should any employee know about any misuse, they must notify their supervisor immediately.

Employees may not use company property for personal reasons unless specific permission has been granted by a member of management. Employees will be held responsible for any loss or damage incurred while the property is in their possession for personal use. If the property is in disrepair when the employee takes possession, they should note those issues with a member of management, so they are not held responsible for them upon return. Employees are expected to take reasonable care of company property being used for company business.

Normal wear and tear are expected, but any employee found to neglect or misuse company property may be subject to discipline, up to and including termination. Failure to return Company property may result in legal action.

6.0 WAGE & HOUR POLICIES

6.1 Employment Classifications & Overtime

The Company designates all employees as either exempt or nonexempt in compliance with applicable federal, state, and local law:

- Exempt Employees: Exempt employees are generally paid a fixed salary and are not entitled to overtime pay.
- Non-Exempt Employees: Non-exempt employees are entitled to minimum wage and overtime pay.

The Company also assigns each employee to one of the following categories:

- Regular Full-Time Employees: Regular full-time employees are those who are normally scheduled to work at least 40 hours per workweek, except for approved time off. These employees are eligible for most Company benefits.
- Regular Part-Time Employees: Regular part-time employees are those who are normally scheduled to work less than 40 hours per workweek. Certain part-time employees (specifically, those working fewer than 30 hours per week) are not eligible for the Company's regular benefits package, though they will receive all legally-mandated benefits for which they qualify. For select benefits purposes, part-time employees who work 30 or more hours per week, but fewer than 40, will be regarded as full-time. Please see Section 8.0 for additional information.
- Temporary Employees: Temporary employees are engaged by the organization to work full-time or part-time for a specific period of time or for a specific assignment. These positions are not intended to be part of continuing operations. Temporary employees are ineligible for Company benefits, though they will receive any legally-mandated benefits for which they qualify.

You will be informed of your classification, status, and responsibilities at the time of hire and at any time your classification, status, or responsibilities change. If you have a question regarding this information, contact Human Resources. These classifications do not alter your employment at-will status.

If you are non-exempt, you may qualify for overtime pay. All overtime must be approved in advance, in writing, by your manager. Employees who work unauthorized overtime are subject to disciplinary action, up to and including termination.

At certain times Parakeet may require you to work overtime. While the Company will attempt to provide you with ample notice when you are needed for overtime work, advance notice may not always be possible. Failure to work overtime when requested by a manager may result in disciplinary action, up to and including discharge.

Except where otherwise required by law, non-exempt employees are paid overtime at a rate of one and one-half times their regular rate of pay for all hours worked over 40 in a workweek (as "workweek" is defined in Section 6.4). Holidays, vacation time, and sick leave days do not count as time worked for purposes of computing overtime.

6.2 Attendance & Punctuality

Your core work hours may differ from those of other employees or from the Company's standard business hours. Your manager will work with you to determine an appropriate work schedule and may make adjustments in response to schedule change requests or business needs. Vacation time, when used for purposes other than those provided for under an applicable sick/safe leave law, must be scheduled and approved in advance. Taking unapproved time off is considered an unexcused absence. Patterns of absenteeism or tardiness may result in discipline.

If you know ahead of time that you will be absent or late, provide reasonable advance notice to your manager. You may be required to provide documentation of any medical or other excuse for being absent or late, as permitted by applicable law. Parakeet reserves the right to apply unused vacation or sick leave to unauthorized absences.

If you fail to show up for work for three (3) consecutive days or to call in with an acceptable reason for such absences, the Company will consider you to have abandoned your job and voluntarily resigned your employment.

6.3 Payroll

The Company's workweek for payroll purposes begins on Monday and ends on Sunday. Team members are paid biweekly, on every other Friday. If a scheduled payday falls on a holiday, employees will be paid on the preceding workday.

6.4 Direct Deposit

Parakeet encourages all team members to enroll in direct deposit, which is administered through Paychex. Employees will be given information during the onboarding process regarding how to set up their account. Typically, the employee's bank will begin the direct deposit of payroll within 30 calendar days after the employee submits his or her completed application.

Current employees with questions about direct deposit (or desiring to establish or change their direct deposit account after onboarding) may contact Human Resources or log into their Paychex account directly.

6.5 Paycheck Deductions

Parakeet is required by law to make certain deductions from your pay each pay period, including deductions for federal income tax, Social Security and Medicare (FICA) taxes, and any other deductions required under law or by court order for wage garnishments. The amount of your tax deductions will depend on your earnings and the information you list on your federal Form W-4 and applicable state withholding form. Permissible deductions for exempt team members may also include, but are not limited to, deductions for full-day absences for reasons other than sickness or disability and certain disciplinary suspensions.

You may also authorize certain voluntary deductions from your paycheck where permissible under state law. Your deductions will be reflected in your wage statement. If you have any questions about deductions from your pay, contact your manager.

6.6 Recording Time

Parakeet is required by applicable federal, state, and local laws to keep accurate records of hours worked by certain team members. To ensure that the Company has complete and accurate time records and that team members are paid for all hours worked, nonexempt team members are required to record all working time using the Company's punch clock/ timekeeping application. Exempt team members may also be required to track days or time worked. Speak with your manager for specific instructions.

You must accurately record all of your time to ensure you are paid for all hours worked and must follow established Company procedures for recording your hours worked. For non-exempt employees, time must be recorded as follows:

- Immediately before starting your shift.
- Immediately after finishing work, before your meal period.
- Immediately before resuming work, after your meal period.
- Immediately after finishing work.
- Immediately before and after any other time away from work.
- Other compensable time required by state law.

If you are required to clock in, you should clock in no more than five minutes before the time you start working and clock out no later than five minutes after you stop working.

You must immediately notify your manager of any pay discrepancies, unrecorded or misrecorded work hours, or any involuntarily missed meal or break periods.

Falsifying time entries is strictly prohibited. Falsification of time entries includes working "off the clock." If you falsify your own time records or the time records of others, or if you work off the clock, you will be subject to discipline up to and including termination. Moreover, you must immediately report to your supervisor and/or Human Resources any employee, supervisor, or manager who falsifies your time entries or encourages or requires you to falsify your time entries or to work off the clock.

6.7 Meal Periods & Rest Breaks

Parakeet strives to provide a safe and healthy work environment and complies with all federal and state regulations regarding meal and rest periods. Check with your manager regarding procedures and schedules for rest and meal breaks.

Non-exempt employees must accurately record all meal and rest periods. Rest breaks, when permitted, should last no more than 10-15 minutes and are compensable. The unauthorized extension of rest breaks is prohibited and may result in disciplinary action. Additionally, the extended time will not be compensated.

Meal periods, as permitted by your manager, are generally limited to one hour, unless a longer time is approved in advance. Sometimes a shorter meal period may be necessary depending on business needs. Non-exempt employees must clock out for meal periods, which are unpaid. During their unpaid meal periods non-exempt employees will be completely relieved from work.

6.8 Travel Time

Some non-exempt positions within Parakeet may require travel. The Company pays nonexempt team members for travel time as follows:

Home to Work Travel

Ordinary travel between home and work is not compensable for working time. However, if you regularly work at a fixed location and are required, for the convenience of the Company, to report to a location other than your regular work site, you will be compensated for all travel time over your ordinary travel time between home and work reimbursed for appropriate mileage.

Travel That is All in a Day's Work

If you are required or directed to travel from one place to another after the beginning of or before the close of the workday, you will be compensated for all travel time. Additionally, qualifying mileage will be reimbursed at the rate designated by the Company Policy (see Section 11.1).

Travel Away from Home Community

Travel that keeps you away from home overnight is traveled away from home. Traveling away from home is work time when it cuts across your workday. The time is not only hours worked on regular working days during normal working hours but also during corresponding hours on nonworking days.

The Company will not consider as work time that time which is spent in travel away from home outside of your regular working hours as a passenger on an airplane, train, boat, bus, or automobile.

Calculating and Reporting Travel Time

You are responsible for accurately tracking, calculating, and reporting your travel time. Travel time should be calculated by rounding up to the nearest quarter hour.

6.9 On-Call Time

Certain employees (generally Maintenance staff) may be required to be "on call" during weekends or outside of normal business hours in order to respond to rare emergencies that may occur on our properties. Non-exempt employees who are designated as on-call and are called back to work outside of their normal work schedules will be paid for their time actually worked (unless additional reporting time pay is required under state law).

On-call employees are expected to be reachable by prearranged means (phone, text, etc.) and to be able to respond to their worksite within a predesignated timeframe. Managers will establish reasonable maximum response times appropriate for their communities (usually between 20 minutes and 2 hours).

Employees who are on call must adhere to all Company policies, including the Drug & Alcohol Policy (see Section 10.2). Otherwise, during the time they are on-call and waiting for authorized calls to work, employees are free to engage in personal activities (and consequently such time is not considered compensable "work time").

Only under very limited circumstances will a non-exempt employee be placed on "restricted" on-call duty, which means that the employee is expected to remain either on the work premises or in a geographic vicinity so near that the individual cannot use the time effectively for his or her own purposes. In such cases, the time spent waiting for an authorized call to work will be paid at the applicable minimum wage. An employee may only be placed on "restricted" on-call status by an advance written designation from their manager.

Time worked while on call will be calculated at the employee's regular rate of pay. Unless state law requires otherwise, overtime compensation is applicable only when the total hours worked exceed 40 hours in the workweek.

6.10 Wage Discrepancy Resolution Procedure

Parakeet takes all reasonable steps to ensure that its employees receive the correct amount of pay in each paycheck and that they are paid promptly on each scheduled payday. Employees must carefully review their paychecks for errors each pay period. In the unlikely event that there is an error, the employee must promptly bring the discrepancy to the attention of their manager so that corrections can be made as quickly as possible. If the matter is not immediately addressed by the manager, the employee must elevate the matter to either Payroll or Human Resources.

Once an underpayment is identified, it will be corrected immediately. Any overpayment will also be corrected, in accordance with applicable law, in the next regular paycheck unless this presents a burden to the employee (where there is a substantial amount owed). In that case, the employer will attempt to arrange a schedule of repayment with the employee to minimize the inconvenience to all involved.

The Company prohibits retaliation against employees who report erroneous deductions or other discrepancies pursuant to this policy.

7.0 TIME OFF FROM WORK

7.1 Vacation

All regular full-time employees are eligible to receive vacation time, which is paid time off that may be used for any purpose, including vacation, rest, observance of religious holidays when the business is open, and other personal pursuits. Vacation time may also be used to recover from an illness or injury when paid sick leave has been exhausted. While part-time and temporary employees are not eligible for vacation, they may be eligible for other types of leave pursuant to state or local law. These employees should review their State Addendum (APPENDIX A) to learn about any leave options that may be available to them.

Allotment & Use

Regular full-time employees (i.e., those scheduled to work at least 40 hours per week) are eligible to receive up to 5 days (40 hours) of paid vacation time annually. The benefit year for purposes of this policy is based on each employee's anniversary date. Although employees begin to accrue vacation leave upon their actual start date, they will not be eligible to use such time off until the conclusion of their 90-day introductory period. If the introductory period for an employee is extended, the date on which the employee can access paid vacation will likewise be extended. However, exceptions to this rule will be made when access to vacation time is necessary for compliance with a state or local paid sick leave law.

Beginning on the employee's hire date, and issued each pay period thereafter, vacation time will be accrued and may be accessed subsequent to the completion of the 90-day introductory period. The vacation time must be submitted prior to the date of the anticipated vacation and will be subject to approval by Management based on business needs. Up to 5 days (40 hours) of vacation time can be carried over from one benefit year into the next, but all unused vacation superseding the 5 days are not subject to carryover and will be forfeited.

As set forth above, vacation time may be used for any reason. However, where an employee takes time off for any of the purposes permitted under the Sick Leave policy (below), the employee must exhaust his or her sick leave before using paid vacation time.

Administration of Leave

Vacation is paid at the employee's base rate of pay at the time the leave is taken. It does not include overtime or any special forms of compensation, such as commissions or bonuses. Except where otherwise required by law, employees will not be paid out for unused vacation under any circumstances, including upon termination of employment.

Vacation may be used in minimum increments of one-half (.5) hour, unless an applicable paid sick leave law requires smaller increments. Vacation leave used for vacation or other non-sick reasons is subject to supervisory approval, which will be based on staffing needs and established departmental procedures.

Except in cases of illness or other qualifying emergencies under an applicable leave law, employees must obtain advance approval by submitting vacation requests to their manager no later than two (2) weeks before the leave is set to begin. When vacation time is used for any of the purposes set forth in the Sick Leave policy, below, employees must follow the notice procedures required for sick leave use.

7.2 Sick Leave

Parakeet has developed a Sick Leave policy which provides a source of income for employees who are excused from work due to illness or injury, or for certain other reasons, as specified below. Because this policy, especially when taken together with the Vacation Time policy applicable to full-time employees (see Section 7.1), provides employees with more generous leave benefits than are required under most state laws, employees who are eligible to receive sick leave under this policy are not eligible to receive additional leave under a Paid Sick Leave policy (if there is one) in their State Addendum.

Allotment

All regular full-time team members who have completed their 90-day introductory period will be eligible to take up to five (5) paid sick days per year. The benefit year for purposes of sick (and safe) leave is based on each employee's anniversary date. Paid sick/safe leave will be allocated as a lump sum each year on the anniversary of the employee's hire date and may be used throughout the benefit year for which it is provided. Although employees will be allocated paid sick leave on their actual start date, they will not be eligible to use this leave until the conclusion of their 90-day introductory period. If an employee's introductory period is extended, his or her allotted sick leave will still be made available for use following (or, for Massachusetts employees, on) the 90th calendar day of employment.

Because sick/safe leave is provided as a lump sum up front each year on the employee's work anniversary date, unused leave will not be carried over into the next benefit year unless otherwise required by law. If carryover is required for frontloaded policies in your jurisdiction, the carryover, annual use, and total accrual maximums (if any) stated in the Paid Sick Leave policy in your State Addendum will apply.

Use of Leave

Leave provided pursuant to this policy may be used throughout the year for any of the following purposes:

- Absences resulting from an employee's or employee's family member's physical or mental illness, injury, or condition, or to obtain preventive medical care.
- Absences taken for the birth of the employee's child or for the placement of a child with the employee for adoption or foster care, or to care for the employee's newborn, newly-adopted, or newly-placed child in the year following the child's birth or placement.
- Absences resulting from closure of the Company's premises, or of the school or childcare center attended by an employee's family member, by order of a public official due to a public health emergency.
- Absences taken by an employee to care for his/her family member, if a healthcare provider has determined that the family member's presence in the community would expose others to a communicable disease.
- Absences taken for an employee (or an employee's family member) who is a victim of domestic violence, sexual assault, or stalking to seek medical attention, use services, seek counseling, relocate, take legal action, or take steps to enhance health and safety.

Employees who are also eligible for paid vacation under Parakeet's Vacation Time policy will first draw on their sick leave bank when they are out for any of the reasons set forth above. When all sick leave has been exhausted, vacation may be used for sick/safe needs.

For purposes of this policy, a "family member" includes (i) a child (biological, adopted, foster, or step) of the employee; (ii) a child for whom the employee has legal or physical custody or guardianship, is the primary caregiver, or stands in loco parentis; (iii) a parent (biological, adoptive, foster, or step) of the employee or employee's spouse or domestic partner; (iv) the employee's legal guardian, domestic partner or spouse, spouse's legal guardian, grandparent (biological, adoptive, foster, or step), grandchild (biological, adopted, foster, or step), sibling (biological, adopted, foster, or step), sibling's spouse, or primary caregiver when the employee was a minor; (v) an individual who acted as a parent or stood in loco parentis to the employee or employee's spouse when the employee or spouse was a minor; or (vi) any other individual related to the employee by blood or affinity whose close association with the employee is the equivalent of a family relationship.

In accordance with the Maryland Flexible Leave Act, leave provided under this policy may also be used by Maryland employees for bereavement leave upon the death of a child, spouse, or parent.

All sick/safe leave must be taken in increments of not less than one-half (.5) hour and is paid at the employee's base rate of pay applicable at the time of absence.

Leave Administration

To be eligible to use paid sick and safe leave, employees must report their illness, injury, or other qualifying need for leave to their direct supervisor before the start of their scheduled workday, or at least seven (7) days in advance if the leave is foreseeable. If the leave is not foreseeable, the employee must notify his or her direct supervisor as soon as practicable thereafter. If the direct supervisor is not available, the employee must notify the Human Resources Department of the absence. The direct supervisor must also be contacted on each additional day of absence, unless arrangements are made in advance for less frequent contact.

Employees will not receive pay in lieu of leave under any circumstances, including upon termination of employment; however, unused paid sick/safe leave will be reinstated for some employees upon rehire, in accordance with state and local law.

Improper use of paid leave (e.g., use of sick leave as personal time or as a means to extend holiday weekends or vacations) or other abuses of this policy may result in disciplinary action being taken. The Company requires medical certification where leave is taken for more than three (3) consecutive days.

7.3 Holidays

Parakeet offers the following paid holidays each year: New Year's Day, Martin Luther King, Jr. Day, Presidents' Day, Memorial Day, Independence Day, Labor Day, Thanksgiving Day, Christmas Eve, and Christmas Day. You will be compensated for holidays in accordance with federal and state law.

When a holiday falls on a Saturday, it will be observed the preceding Friday. Holidays falling on a Sunday will be observed the following Monday. If a holiday falls on your regular day off, ask your manager how it affects you.

7.4 Bereavement

Parakeet recognizes the importance of taking leave when there is a death in the family. Accordingly, regular full-time employees will be provided with five (5) days of paid leave upon the death of an immediate family member. For purposes of this policy, an "immediate family member" is a parent, spouse, domestic partner, child, sibling, grandparent, grandchild, parent-in-law, and corresponding step-relatives. Additional unpaid leave may be requested and will be considered on a case-by-case basis.

You must provide notice of your need for bereavement leave as far in advance as possible. The Company may require documentation supporting the need for bereavement leave.

7.5 Family & Medical Leave Act (FMLA)

Eligible employees may take job-protected leave from work for certain qualifying reasons. Where state law provides greater leave benefits than those provided under the FMLA, the state rules will apply. This policy provides a general summary of FMLA leave benefits.

Employees who believe they have an FMLA-qualifying need for leave should contact Human Resources for more information.

Eligibility & Entitlement

An employee is eligible for up to 12 weeks of unpaid leave during a 12-month period under this policy if he or she has been employed by the Company for at least 12 months, has worked at least 1,250 hours during the previous 12-month period, and works at a location where the Company has at least 50 employees within 75 miles. The 12-month period for calculating an employee's leave entitlement is measured forward from the first date the employee takes leave. Some limitations apply to two family members employed by Parakeet.

FMLA leave may be requested for any of the following reasons:

(1) To care for a child born to or placed with an employee for adoption or foster care.

(2) To care for a spouse, child, or parent ("covered family member") with a serious health condition.

(3) For an employee's own serious health condition that makes him or her unable to perform the essential functions of his/her job.

(4) For qualifying exigencies resulting from the deployment of the employee's spouse, child, or parent to a foreign country where such military member is on active duty (or has been notified of an impending call or order to active duty). Qualifying exigencies include making alternative child care arrangements, attending certain military ceremonies and briefings, taking leave to spend time with a military member on rest and recuperation leave, making financial or legal arrangements to address the military member's absence, or certain activities related to care of a parent of the military member while the military member is on covered active duty.

In addition, certain qualified employees are eligible for up to 26 weeks of leave in a single 12-month period to care for a covered service member recovering from a serious illness or injury. "Covered service member" means a member of the Armed Forces, including a member of the National Guard or Reserves, who is undergoing medical treatment, recuperation, or therapy, is otherwise in outpatient status, or is otherwise on the temporary disability retired list, for a serious illness or injury. A "serious injury or illness" requires that the member of the Armed Forces be injured, or that a preexisting injury or illness be aggravated, in the line of duty while on active duty and the injury must be so significant that it renders the member medically unfit to perform the duties of the member's office, grade, rank or rating in the Armed Forces. Eligible employees are entitled to a combined total of up to 26 weeks of all types of FMLA leave.

Leave taken pursuant to (1) above must be completed within the 12-month period following the date of birth or placement.

Family medical leave is generally unpaid leave. However, all forms of paid leave will run concurrently with the unpaid FMLA leave unless otherwise required by law. If leave is requested because of a birth, adoption, or foster care placement of a child, any accrued vacation must first be substituted and used for unpaid family/medical leave. If leave is requested because of the employee's own serious health condition or to care for a covered family member with a serious health condition, any accrued paid vacation and sick leave must (where permitted by law) first be substituted and used for any unpaid family/medical leave. The Company's short-term and/or long-term disability plans may also provide whole or partial wage replacement benefits, consistent with the terms of the applicable plan documents. The substitution of paid leave time for unpaid leave time does not extend the 12- or 26-week leave period to which an employee is entitled under FMLA.

Notice of Leave

If the need for family/medical leave is foreseeable, an employee must generally give the Company at least 30 days' prior written notice. Failure to provide such notice may delay or deny the granting of leave. Where the need for leave is not foreseeable, an employee is expected to notify the company as soon as practicable, generally within 1 to 2 business days of learning of the need for leave. Employees may obtain FMLA Request Forms from Human Resources. These Forms must be used by Parakeet employees when requesting leave.

Medical Certification

If an employee requests leave because of the employee's own or a covered family member's serious health condition, the employee and the relevant health care provider must supply appropriate medical certification within 15 days, if requested to do so. Employees may obtain Medical Certification Forms from Human Resources. Failure to provide a medical certification in a timely manner may result in the delay or denial of leave.

At its discretion and expense, the Company may require a second medical opinion. If the first and second opinions differ, a third medical opinion, provided by a health care provider approved jointly by the employee and the Company, will be binding. The Company may also require recertification periodically during a leave period, and the employee may be required to present a fitness-for-duty certificate upon return to work following a leave for his or her own illness.

Medical and Other Benefits

During FMLA leave, the Company will maintain health insurance and other benefits the same as if the employee had continued working, provided that the employee continues to pay his or her portion of the premiums, as applicable. The employee is responsible for his/her portion of all benefit premiums at the same rate effective immediately prior to the leave. The employee is not entitled to other benefits accrual or holiday pay during the unpaid leave period.

Returning From Leave

Any employee taking a leave under this policy will generally be entitled to return to his or her same position or to an equivalent position with equal benefits, pay, or other terms and conditions of employment. Such right to reinstatement does not extend to "key employees," as defined in the FMLA.

Reporting While on Leave

The Company may require employees to report periodically during leave on their status and intent to return to work.

Intermittent and Reduced-Schedule Leave

Leave due to a serious health condition may be taken intermittently (in separate blocks of time due to a single covered health condition) or on a reduced leave schedule (reducing the usual number of hours worked per workweek or workday) if medically necessary. If leave is unpaid, the Company will reduce the employee's salary based on the amount of time actually worked. In addition, while on an intermittent or reduced-schedule leave, the Company may temporarily transfer the employee to an available alternative position that better accommodates the recurring leave and which has equivalent pay and benefits.

7.6 Military Leave (USERRA)

The Company complies with applicable federal and state law regarding military leave and re-employment rights. Unpaid military leave of absence will be granted to members of the uniformed services by the Uniformed Services Employment and Reemployment Rights Act of 1994, as amended ("USERRA") and all applicable state laws.

You must submit documentation of the need for leave to your supervisor or appropriate department. When returning from a military leave of absence, provided you follow all notice procedures set forth under state and federal law, you will be reinstated to your previous position or a similar position. For more information regarding status, compensation, benefits, and reinstatement upon return from military leave, contact Human Resources.

7.7 Jury Duty Leave

Parakeet encourages its team members to fulfill their civic duties related to jury duty. If you are summoned for jury duty, notify your manager as soon as possible to make scheduling arrangements.

If you are classified as exempt, you will not incur any deduction in pay for a partial week's absence due to jury duty. If you are classified as nonexempt, you will not be compensated for time spent on jury duty unless otherwise required by law. Please see your State Addendum (APPENDIX A) for further information, if any, on jury duty leave pay.

The Company reserves the right to require team members to provide proof of jury duty service to the extent authorized by applicable state laws. The Company will not retaliate against team members who request or take leave by this policy.

7.8 Court Attendance & Witness Leave

The Company realizes that, on occasion, team members may be subpoenaed to testify as witnesses in court. In such cases, you will be provided unpaid leave to attend. Notify your manager as soon as possible to make scheduling arrangements. You may opt to use paid vacation time in place of unpaid leave.

The Company reserves the right to require team members to provide proof of the need for leave to the extent authorized by law. The Company will not retaliate against team members who request or take leave by this policy.

7.9 Voting Leave

Parakeet team members are encouraged to exercise their right to vote. If your work schedule prevents you from voting on Election Day, the Company will allow you a reasonable time off (not less than two (2) hours) to vote during work hours without loss of pay. The time when you can go to vote will be at the discretion of your manager, consistent with the laws of the state in which you work.

8.0 BENEFITS & COMPENSATION

This section contains descriptions of Parakeet's benefits offerings and their eligibility requirements. Qualified employees will be eligible for most benefits after 60 days of employment (benefits take effect on the first day of the month following 60 days of employment). For purposes of this Section only, a "full-time employee" is defined as one who works 30 or more hours weekly for Parakeet.

All benefits described herein are subject to the terms and conditions associated with the particular benefit's Summary Plan Description, and in the event of a conflict between the plan documents and this Handbook, the plan documents govern. Benefit terms and offerings are subject to change or elimination at Parakeet's discretion, or by the insurance company or benefits provider, per the terms of each plan.

8.1 Health Insurance

Parakeet offers group health insurance benefits to all regular full-time team members who have completed 60 days of employment and their eligible dependents. Health benefits and plan options may be viewed on Paychex.

Your group health benefits are paid in part by the Company. The remainder of the costs is paid by you through deductions from your paycheck. Benefits may be canceled or changed at the discretion of the Company unless otherwise prohibited by law.

If you or a dependent become ineligible for benefits due to a change in work hours or through a life event, or you leave employment with us, you may have the right to continue your health benefits under federal or state law. In such an event, the Company will provide you with information about your rights to continue your benefits coverage.

8.2 Dental Insurance

All regular full-time team members (i.e., those who work 30 hours per week or more) who have completed 60 days of employment at Parakeet are eligible for the Company dental plan. Dental benefits and plan options may be viewed on Paychex.

8.3 Vision Care Insurance

All regular full-time (again, as "full-time" is defined for this Section) team members who have completed 60 days of employment at Parakeet are eligible for the Company vision care plan. Vision benefits and plan options may be viewed on Paychex.

8.4 401(k) Plan

To participate in the Company's 401(k) plan, employees must be at least 21 years of age and have worked for the Company for at least three (3) months. Employees may elect to contribute before-tax dollars and/or make Roth contributions to the plan.

Employees are subject to the terms and conditions set forth in the retirement plan documents. Please note that Parakeet reserves the right to reduce or otherwise modify the benefits offered under the plan at any time, in accordance with applicable law. The Company will provide eligible employees with additional plan information at the time of hire or upon later request.

8.5 COBRA

The Consolidated Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act (COBRA) provides the opportunity for eligible Parakeet team members and their beneficiaries to continue health insurance coverage under the Company health plan when a "qualifying event" could result in the loss of eligibility.

Qualifying events include resignation, termination of employment, death of an employee, reduction in hours, certain leaves of absence, divorce or legal separation, entitlement to Medicare, or where a dependent child no longer meets eligibility requirements. Contact Human Resources to learn more about your COBRA rights.

8.6 Workers' Compensation Insurance

Workers' compensation is a no-fault system designed to provide benefits to all team members for work-related injuries. Workers' compensation insurance coverage is paid for by employers and governed by state law. The workers' compensation system provides for coverage of medical treatment and expenses, occupational disability leave, and rehabilitation services, as well as payment for lost wages due to work-related injuries.

Employees out on workers' compensation leave will be required to submit a medical release before returning to work. If you are injured on the job while working at Parakeet, no matter how slightly, you must report the incident immediately to your manager. Consistent with applicable state law, failure to report an injury within a reasonable period could jeopardize your claim for benefits. Where an injury is the result of an on-the- job accident, you must fill out an accident report.

8.7 Unemployment Compensation Insurance

Unemployment compensation insurance provides temporary income for team members who have lost their job under certain circumstances. Your eligibility for unemployment compensation will, in part, be determined by the reasons for your separation from the Company.

9.0 INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY & TECHNOLOGY

9.1 Confidentiality & Nondisclosure of Trade Secrets

As a condition of employment, Parakeet team members are required to protect the confidentiality of Company trade secrets, proprietary information, and confidential commercially-sensitive information (i.e., financial or sales records/reports, marketing or business strategies/plans, product development, customer lists, patents, trademarks, etc.). Access to this information should be limited to a "need to know" basis and should not be used for personal benefit, disclosed, or released without prior authorization from management.

If you have information that leads you to believe that team members are sharing such information in violation of this policy and/or that competitors are obtaining such information, you are required to inform your manager or Human Resources. Violations of this policy may result in disciplinary action up to and including termination, and may subject the violator to civil liability.

Pursuant to 18 U.S.C. § 1833(b), no individual will be held criminally or civilly liable under any federal or state trade secret law for disclosure of a trade secret: (i) made in confidence to a government official, either directly or indirectly, or to an attorney, solely for the purpose of reporting or investigating a suspected violation of law; and/or (ii) in a complaint or other document filed in a lawsuit or other proceeding, if such filing is made under seal. Additionally, an individual suing an employer for retaliation based on the reporting of a suspected violation of law may disclose a trade secret to his or her attorney and use the trade secret information in the court proceeding, so long as any document containing the trade secret is filed under seal and the individual does not disclose the trade secret except pursuant to court order.

9.2 Use of Company Technology

Company Equipment

All Company property – including desks, storage areas, work areas, lockers, file cabinets, credenzas, computer systems, office telephones, cellular telephones, modems, facsimile machines, duplicating machines, copying machines, and vehicles – must be used properly and maintained in good working order. Employees who lose, steal, or misuse Company property will be personally liable for replacing or repairing the item.

The Company reserves the right, at all times and without further notice, to inspect and search all Company property to determine whether this policy or any other policy of the Company has been violated, or when an inspection and investigation is necessary for purposes of promoting safety in the workplace or compliance with state and federal laws. These inspections may be conducted during or outside business hours and in the presence or absence of the affected employee.

To protect the Company's legitimate business interests, the Company reserves the right to question and inspect or search any employee or other individual entering or leaving Company premises, with or without notice. The inspection or search may include any packages or items that the individual may be carrying, including briefcases, handbags, knapsacks, shopping bags, etc. The individual may be requested to display the contents of any packages and/or turn out his or her pockets, et cetera, in the presence of a representative of the Company, typically a management employee of the same gender. Whether information is entered or sent during or outside of working time, employees have no right of privacy as to any information or file maintained in or on Company property or transmitted or stored through Company computer systems, voicemail, e-mail, or other technical resources.

If during the course of your employment, you perform or transmit work on Company computer systems or other technical resources, your work may be subject to the investigation, search, and review of others by this policy. In addition, any electronically-stored communications that you either send to or receive from others may be retrieved and reviewed when doing so serves the legitimate business interests and obligations of the Company.

Employees should use the computer systems only for business purposes. Using e-mail or the Internet for personal, nonbusiness purposes is prohibited during working time (as "working time" is defined in the Solicitation & Distribution policy below).

Employees may access only electronic files or programs that they have permission to enter. Unauthorized copying or use of computer software exposes both the Company and the individual employee to substantial fines and/or imprisonment. Therefore, employees may not load personal software onto the Company's computer system and may not copy software from the Company for personal use. All employees must contact IT support to install any software on the Company's computer system.

Unauthorized review, duplication, dissemination, removal, installation, damage, or alteration of files, passwords, computer systems or programs, or other property of the Company, or improper use of information obtained by unauthorized means, will not be tolerated.

Messages stored and/or transmitted by voicemail or e-mail must not contain content that may reasonably be considered offensive or disruptive to any employee. Offensive content includes, but is not limited to, sexual comments or images, racial slurs, gender-specific comments, or any comments or images that may offend someone based on their age, sexual orientation, religious or political beliefs, national origin, disability, or any other protected category identified in the Equal Employment Opportunity Policy.

Unacceptable Use of the Internet

In addition to the requirements stated above, the use of the internet must not disrupt the operation of the Company network or the networks of other users and must not interfere with the productivity of any employee. Copyrighted materials belonging to entities other than this Company may not be transmitted by employees on the internet.

One copy of copyrighted material may be downloaded for an employee's personal use in research if pre-approved by the employee's manager. Employees are not permitted to copy, transfer, rename, add, or delete information or programs belonging to other users unless given express permission to do so by the owner of such information or programs.

Employees should be aware that harassment of any kind is prohibited. No messages with derogatory or inflammatory remarks about an individual or group's age, disability, gender, race, religion, national origin, physical attributes, sexual preference, or any other classification protected by federal, state, or local law will be transmitted.

Employee Responsibility

Employees will be given an electronic mail password when granted access to the internet or the Company's electronic mail system. Employees may change these passwords from time to time; however, all passwords must be made known to the Company. Because your system may need to be accessed by the Company when you are absent, the IT department needs to be able to access all Company computer equipment, electronic mail, and Internet accounts.

Each employee is responsible for the content of all text, audio, or images that they place or send over the Internet. All messages communicated on the Internet should have your name attached. No messages will be transmitted under an assumed name. Employees or other users may not attempt to obscure the origin of any message. Employees who wish to express personal opinions on the Internet are encouraged to obtain their usernames on other Internet systems.

To prevent computer viruses from being transmitted through the system, employees are not authorized to download any software onto their computer or any drive in that computer. Employees interested in obtaining software from the internet should contact IT support.

Violations

Violations of any guidelines listed above may result in disciplinary action up to and including termination. In addition, the Company may advise appropriate legal officials of any illegal violations. This policy is in no way intended to modify the at-will nature of employment with the Company.

9.3 Social Media

At Parakeet Communities, we recognize the internet provides unique opportunities to participate in interactive discussions and share information using a wide variety of social media. However, the use of social media also presents certain risks and carries with it certain responsibilities. To minimize risks to the Company, all team members are expected to follow our guidelines for the appropriate use of social media.

Guidelines

For purposes of this policy, social media includes all means of communicating and/or posting information or content of any sort on the internet. This includes your own or someone else's weblog or blog, journal or diary, personal website, social networking or affinity website, web bulletin board or chat room, whether associated or affiliated with the Company, as well as any other form of electronic communication.

Company principles, guidelines, and policies apply to online activities just as they apply to other areas of work. Ultimately, you are solely responsible for what you communicate on social media. You may be personally responsible for any litigation that may arise should you make unlawful defamatory, slanderous, or libelous statements against any customer, manager, owner, or team member of the Company.

Be Respectful

The Company cannot force or mandate respectful and courteous activity by team members on social media during nonworking time. If you decide to post complaints or criticism, avoid using statements, photographs, video, or audio that reasonably could be viewed as unlawful, slanderous, threatening, or that might constitute unlawful harassment.

Examples of such conduct might include defamatory or slanderous posts meant to harm someone's reputation or posts that could contribute to a hostile work environment based on race, sex, disability, age, national origin, religion, veteran status, or any other class protected by law or Company policy.

Maintain Accuracy and Confidentiality

When posting information:

- Maintain the confidentiality of trade secrets, intellectual property, and confidential commercially sensitive information (i.e., financial or sales records/ reports, marketing or business strategies/plans, product development, customer lists, patents, trademarks, etc.) related to the Company.
- Do not create a link from your personal blog, website, or another social networking site to a Company website that identifies you as speaking on behalf of the Company.
- Never represent yourself as a spokesperson for the Company. If the Company is a subject of the content you are creating, do not represent yourself as speaking on its behalf. Make it clear in your social media activity that you are speaking on your own behalf only.
- Respect copyright, trademark, third-party rights, and similar laws and use such protected information in compliance with applicable legal standards.

Using Social Media at Work

Do not use social media while on your work time, unless it is work-related as authorized by your manager or consistent with policies that cover equipment owned by the Company.

Media Contacts

If you are not authorized to speak on behalf of the Company, do not speak to the media on behalf of the Company. Direct all media inquiries for official Company responses to Human Resources.

Retaliation and Your Rights

Retaliation or any other negative action is prohibited against anyone who, based on a reasonable belief, reports a possible deviation from this policy or cooperates in an investigation. Those who retaliate against others for reporting a possible deviation from this policy or for cooperating in an investigation will be subject to disciplinary action, up to and including termination.

Nothing in this policy is designed to interfere with, restrain, or prevent team members from communications regarding wages, hours, or other terms and conditions of employment, or to restrain team members from exercising any other right protected by law. All team members have the right to engage in or refrain from such activities.

9.4 Workplace Privacy & Right to Inspect

Parakeet property, including but not limited to lockers, phones, computers, tablets, desks, workplace areas, vehicles, or machinery, remains under the control of the Company and is subject to inspection at any time, without notice to any team members, and their presence. You should not expect privacy in any of these areas. We assume no responsibility for the loss of or damage to, your property maintained on Company premises including that kept in lockers and desks.

10.0 SAFETY & LOSS PREVENTION

10.1 Business Closure & Emergencies

Parakeet recognizes that inclement weather and other emergencies may affect your ability to get to work. In such situations, your safety is important to us. Emergencies resulting in Company closure may include power outages and hazardous weather conditions.

In an emergency, the Company will make every effort to notify you of the closing by phone or e-mail. If the Company closes its office mid-day due to inclement weather or a power outage, you will be instructed by your manager to leave immediately. If you are exempt and are working at home with prior permission, or at the office on the day of the partial day closure, you will be paid your normal salary for the week. If you are non-exempt, you will be paid for your hours worked, unless state law dictates otherwise.

10.2 Drug & Alcohol Policy

We have a strict drug and alcohol-free workplace. Being under the influence of alcohol, illegal drugs (as classified under federal, state, or local laws), or other impairing substances while on the job poses a serious health and safety risk to others and will not be tolerated.

Parakeet prohibits team members from engaging in the following activities when they are on duty or conducting Company business or on Company premises (whether or not they are working):

- Use, abuse, or being under the influence of alcohol, illegal drugs, or other impairing substances.
- Possession, sale, purchase, transfer, or transit of any illegal or unauthorized drug, including prescription medication that is not prescribed to the individual, or drug-related paraphernalia.
- The illegal use or abuse of prescription drugs.

Nothing in this policy is meant to prohibit your appropriate use of over-the-counter medication or other medication that can legally be prescribed under both federal and state law, if it does not impair your job performance or safety or the safety of others. If you take over-the-counter medication or other medication that can legally be prescribed under both federal and state law to treat a disability, you must inform your manager – before reporting to work while under the influence of the medication – if you have any knowledge that it may impair your job performance, safety, or the safety of others, or if you believe you need a reasonable accommodation.

From time to time, the Company may sponsor social or business-related events where alcohol may be served. This policy does not prohibit the use or consumption of alcohol at these events. However, if you choose to consume alcohol at such events, you must do so responsibly and maintain your obligation to conduct yourself properly and professionally at all times.

Violations of the Drug & Alcohol Policy are taken seriously and may result in disciplinary action, up to and including termination of employment.

10.3 General Safety

It is the responsibility of all Parakeet team members to maintain a healthy and safe work environment by reporting all health or safety hazards and following the Company's health and safety rules. Failure to do so may result in disciplinary action, up to and including termination of employment.

The Company also requires that all occupational illnesses or injuries be reported to a manager as soon as reasonably possible, and that an occupational illness or injury form be completed on each reported incident.

10.4 Workplace Violence

As the safety and security of our team members, vendors, contractors, and the general public is in the best interests of Parakeet Communities, we are committed to working with our team members to provide a work environment free from violence, intimidation, and other disruptive behavior.

Zero-Tolerance Policy

The Company has a zero-tolerance policy regarding workplace violence and will not tolerate acts or threats of violence, harassment, intimidation, and other disruptive behavior, either physical or verbal, that occurs in the workplace or other areas. This applies to management, co-workers, team members, and non-employees such as contractors, customers, and visitors.

Workplace violence can include oral or written statements, gestures, or expressions that communicate a direct or indirect threat of physical harm, property damage, or any intentional behavior that may cause a person to feel threatened.

Prohibited Conduct

Prohibited conduct includes, but is not limited to:

- Physically injuring another person.
- Threatening to injure a person or damage property by any means, including verbal, written, direct, indirect, or electronic means.
- Taking any action to place a person in reasonable fear of imminent harm or offensive contact.
- Possessing, brandishing, or using a firearm on Company property or while performing Company business except as permitted by state law.
- Violating a restraining order, order of protection, injunction against harassment, or other court order.

Engaging in conduct prohibited by this policy may subject you to criminal charges as well as disciplinary action by Parakeet, up to and including immediate termination of employment.

Reporting Incidents of Violence

Any employee who witnesses behavior that violates this policy or compromises the Company's ability to maintain a safe work environment must immediately report it to both their manager and Human Resources. All reports will be promptly investigated and kept confidential, except where there is a legitimate need to know. Any employee who engages in or witnesses an instance of workplace violence is expected to cooperate in the ensuing investigation.

Retaliation

Victims and witnesses of workplace violence will not be retaliated against in any manner. In addition, you will not be subject to discipline for reporting, based on a reasonable belief, a threat or for cooperating in an investigation.

If you initiate, participate in, or fail to report any instance of retaliation or an investigation obstruction, you will be subject to disciplinary action up to and including termination. If you believe you have been wrongfully retaliated against, you must immediately report the matter to your supervisor and/or Human Resources.

10.5 Smoking Prohibited

Parakeet is concerned about the effect that smoking and secondhand smoke inhalation can have on its team members and residents. Smoking in the office, resident areas, and restrooms is prohibited.

11.0 MISCELLANEOUS

11.1 Travel Expenses

Travel Authorization, Allocation of Costs to Communities & Required Receipts

All travel must be approved by your supervisor in writing via email before booking. If travel is out of the norm or last minute the Regional Manager/Home Office Representative must approve via email.

Company credit cards should be used for all authorized travel costs and may not be used for personal expenses. No family, friends, or relatives are allowed on any business travel unless pre-approved by a Managing Partner. Itemized receipts for air fare, automobile rentals, Uber, hotels, meals, and other reimbursable costs must be submitted in accordance with appropriate procedures.

Receipts for meals must have the first and last name of each person a meal was purchased for. Please mark your receipts with the Community Name(s) and note the business purpose of the trip as well as the names of any other individuals for whom you have paid any of their expenses. When charges are recorded on the Mileage Reimbursement Request Form, the Community Name to be charged must be noted.

If a Company-issued credit card is used for personal expenses, disciplinary action, up to and including termination, may occur. Employees must immediately report all personal or other improper uses of a Company credit card to their Regional Manager/Home Office Representative and must promptly reimburse the Company, as applicable.

Use of Personal Vehicle

From time to time, it may be necessary for you to utilize your personal vehicle for pre-authorized Company business. In order to do so, you must have a valid license and your vehicle must be registered, insured and in safe operating condition. Community residents may not be transported in your car for any reason. Call 911 if an emergency.

Mileage

The Mileage Reimbursement Policy ensures the Company adequately compensates employees for reasonable and necessary work-related miles driven using their personal vehicles. To qualify as reimbursable, a trip must be for a work-related purpose and serve to achieve work-related goals.

The Company will reimburse employees for all mileage, over the usual commute miles, driven in their personal vehicle when such travel is for work purposes and occurs during the workday. For remote employees, the Company will reimburse the mileage traveled on the same workday between your account and the location of the office.

Mileage reimbursement forms are due the Monday before each pay date.

The Company reimburses for mileage at the applicable IRS standard mileage rate for business travel.

Air Fare

Airline tickets should be booked at least two (2) weeks in advance and not less than a minimum of seven (7) days in advance to take advantage of discounts. Please bear in mind that discount fares typically do not allow changes, so you must be able to make a commitment to the travel dates and change them only under extraordinary circumstances.

All air travel changes and fees must be approved by your supervisor. Air travel is to be booked in coach class seating and any upgrades are an employee's personal expense. Any airfare more than $350 round trip must be pre-approved by your RM/HO Representative.

Reimbursable baggage fees are restricted to one bag per round trip. Airline tickets and boarding passes are to be attached to receipts.

Automobile Rentals

A mid-size or compact car at a competitive price from a nationally recognized rental car company is the general policy for all travel. We should only rent SUVs or full-size cars if there will be multiple passengers or if the rental company gives us the same price as for a mid-size or compact car. When travelling in groups to the same location, the rental vehicle should be shared when possible.

Only authorized drivers on the rental agreements are authorized to drive the rental vehicle. Rental vehicles should be returned with a full tank of gas; other refueling options offered should not be used. Parakeet Communities LLC does not have hired auto physical damage coverage included in its insurance policies; accordingly, all employees renting vehicles on Company business must purchase both hired auto liability insurance and hired auto physical damage insurance. Such coverage should never be waived. Rental car insurance supplied by the rental agency is an approved and reimbursable expense. If you do not have personal automobile coverage, you should purchase the highest level of optional personal liability insurance from the rental car company.

Auto rental for CMs requires the prior approval of your Regional Manager and are only for travel out of region/out of state. Accidental damage to your car, traffic tickets and parking fines are not reimbursable. You are to use your RC when paying for all travel. No family members are to travel with or be in a rental car UNLESS approved in advance in writing.

Uber, Lyft & Other Transportation

Please utilize the shuttle/hotel bus service whenever possible. When traveling in groups, Uber/Lyft may be economical. When traveling to and from your local airport, always opt for long-term parking or for the most economical alternative for the Company.

Hotel

Hotel accommodations should be arranged through Hotels.com, or a similar online service (e.g., Kayak) unless preferable discounted rates have been arranged by the home office (e.g., Holiday Inn Express, Hampton Inn). Choose hotels convenient to your business activities with rates below $109.00, before tax and fees, per night. If you are unable to book at or below this amount, you must obtain pre-authorization from Home Office via email.

Documentation of pre-authorization for higher rates must be sent at end of the month with the receipt. Movies, room service, shoeshine, and other non-complimentary hotel amenities are considered non-reimbursable expenses and must be covered by the employee. Book hotels at least 2 weeks in advance when able to.

Meal Expenses

Meals are covered for full-day travel out of town as follows:

Lunch is a covered expense for day trips where no overnight stay is required when traveling to an out-of-town Community. If an overnight stay is required, the employee's breakfast, lunch, and dinner are covered expenses. During travel, no purchase for other vendors, residents, or visitors is allowed without prior authorization from your RM/Home Office.

It is acceptable for you to pay for another employee you are visiting if the occasion is celebratory in nature, if you are conducting a performance evaluation, or if significant time has passed since your prior meeting. The same per diem of $20.00 per person for lunch shall apply. Maximum charges for actual costs, including beverage and tip, for each meal are as follows:

- Breakfast – $10.00 per person per day (unless hotel offers free breakfast)
- Lunch – $20.00 per person per day
- Dinner – $25.00 per person per day.

Any meal expenditures over the maximum amount will not be reimbursed. Alcoholic beverages are not reimbursable and should not ever be charged on a Company card. Receipts should be itemized and turned in as such for all entertaining which involves more than one person. You are not to use total per diem for one meal unless approval in advance.

Documentation of Travel Expenditures and Supervisory Review and Approval Process

All associates who incur expenditures MUST complete and sign the monthly credit card statements and scan and submit the receipts within 30 days.

Mileage reimbursement forms should be submitted, for payroll, on a weekly basis. If not handled within 15 days, you will not be reimbursed. All mileage forms must be signed and e-mail in Excel format.

11.2 Use of Employer Credit Cards

Company credit cards will be issued to select employees based on business need. All team members in the possession of a credit card issued by Parakeet will adhere to the strictest guidelines of responsibility for the protection and proper use of that card.

Submit all sales receipts generated by the use of the Company credit card weekly to your manager or appropriate department. Your Company credit card may not be used for personal reasons. Use of the Company credit card is restricted to approved business-related expenses.

Any unauthorized purchases made with a credit card issued by the Company will be the cardholder's responsibility. You must reimburse any such purchase to the Company within 10 days.

Immediately report lost or stolen Company cards to your manager. Failure to follow this policy may result in disciplinary action up to and including discharge.

Authorization Levels

I. Facility/Repair & Maintenance Authorization Levels

- District Managers: $250. Do not break up any costs into 2 invoices to go above levels.
- Regional Managers: $500. All expenses over $500 and up to $1,500 require higher-level review and written preapproval. To obtain preapproval, all relevant information must be provided via email to Director of Operations. Verbal approval will not be accepted.
- Facility Managers: $3,000. Need to be reviewed for the next 90 days until understanding MH costs and are on the same page with the Director of Operations.
- CEO/CIO: $5,000 and above. Dual approval is required.

No contracts are to be signed by anyone but the CEO, unless otherwise authorized by the CEO in writing. No automatic renewals and most all agreements are "month to month."

II. Credit Card Authorization Levels

- District Managers: Approval will be $150 (after 90 days).
    - Spending amounts must be in line with approved budgets. We will use controllable expenses including office supplies, small-expense plumbing supplies, cold patches, etc. CMs will not be allowed to purchase supplies for the rehab of homes.

- Regional Managers: Approval at $500 (travel, office supplies, etc.). Anything over $300 must be approved by the Director of Operations.
    - Should always be done in advance.
    - Leadership team has to sign off on the travel policy and Company credit card policy.
    - Detail on all receipts must be clear and include lot #, issues, etc.
- Maintenance Managers: Approval up to $300. Anything over $300 must be approved in advance.
    - If a large order is bought for rehab, check off on all line items to be signed off by 2 people.
- Assistants to Jon/Austin: Approval at $200 (after 90 days of training) and $500 thereafter.

All expenses bought by maintenance techs are to be audited, inventoried, and signed off on by a Community Manager (CM). The CM is responsible for all supplies purchased on the card.

11.3 Driving Record

All team members required to operate a motor vehicle as part of their employment duties at Parakeet must maintain a valid driver's license and acceptable driving record.

The Company may run a motor vehicle department check to determine your driving record. It is your responsibility to provide a copy of your current driver's license for your personnel file.

Any changes in your driving record, including but not limited to driving infractions, must be reported to the Company.

State law requires all motorists to carry auto liability insurance. It is against the law to drive without insurance. If you use your vehicle as a part of your employment duties, you must provide management with a current proof of insurance statement or card. A new proof of insurance is required every time your policy expires and renews.

11.4 Solicitation & Distribution

To avoid disruption of business operations or disturbance of team members, visitors, and others, Parakeet has implemented a non-solicitation/non-distribution policy. For purposes of this policy, "solicitation" includes, but is not limited to, selling items or services, requesting contributions, and soliciting or seeking to obtain membership in or support for any organization. Solicitation performed through verbal, written, or electronic means is covered by this policy.

You are prohibited from soliciting other team members during your assigned working time. For this purpose, "working time" means time during which either you or the team members who are the object of the solicitation are expected to be actively engaged with assigned work. You may conduct solicitations during your lunch period, coffee breaks, or other authorized nonworking time, so long as you do so when the other team members are also on nonworking time. To avoid inappropriate litter, clutter, and safety risks, you may not distribute literature or other items that are not work-related in working areas at any time. Working areas do not include break/rest areas, lunchrooms, or parking lots.

Electronic distribution of materials is prohibited during work time. Literature that violates the Company's equal employment opportunity (EEO) and non-harassment policies (including threats of violence), or is knowingly and recklessly false, is never permitted.

Non-employees are not permitted to distribute materials on Company premises at any time.

This policy is not intended to restrict the statutory rights of team members, including the right to discuss terms and conditions of employment. Violations of this policy should be reported to your manager.

11.5 Personal Appearance

Your appearance reflects on the reputation, integrity, and public image of Parakeet Communities. All team members are required to report to work neatly groomed and dressed.

You are expected to maintain personal hygiene habits that are generally accepted in the community, including clean clothing, good grooming and personal hygiene, and appropriate attire for the workplace and the work being performed. This may include wearing uniforms or protective safety clothing and equipment, depending on the job. Use common sense and good judgment in determining what to wear to work.

Fragrant products, including but not limited to perfumes, colognes, and scented body lotions or hair products, should be used in moderation out of concern for others with sensitivities or allergies.

The Company, by applicable law, will reasonably accommodate team members with disabilities or religious beliefs that make it difficult for them to comply fully with the personal appearance policy unless doing so would impose an undue hardship on the Company. Contact Human Resources to request reasonable accommodation.

Failure to comply with the personal appearance standards may result in being sent home to groom or change clothes. Frequent violations may result in disciplinary action, up to and including termination of employment. Please refer to Dresscode policy in Paychex for additional policy details.

11.6 Cell Phone/Mobile Device Use At Work

While Parakeet permits team members to bring cell phones and other mobile devices (i.e., smart phones, tablets, laptops) into the workplace, you must not allow the personal use of such devices to interfere with your job duties or impact workplace safety and health.

The Company allows personal cell phones to be used for business purposes. However, the use at work of cell phones and mobile devices (whether such devices are Company-issued or the employee's own) for personal/social reasons can be distracting and disruptive and cause a loss of productivity. Thus, while occasional personal calls or messaging may be necessary, such communications should be kept to a minimum and/or limited to nonworking time such as breaks and meal periods. Always use mobile devices in a manner that is courteous to those around you.

If you have a device that has a camera and/or audio/video recording capability, you are restricted from using those functions on Company property unless authorized in advance by management or when they are used in a manner consistent with your right to engage in concerted activity under section 7 of the National Labor Relations Act (NLRA).

You are expected to comply with Company policies regarding the protection of confidential and proprietary information when using personal devices.

While operating a vehicle during work hours, the Company requires the driver's cell phone/mobile device to be off. If you need to make or receive a phone call while driving, pull off the road to a safe location unless you have the correct hands-free equipment for the device that complies with applicable state laws.

You may connect your personal device to the Company network or Company equipment (computers, printers, etc.).

Nothing in this policy is intended to prevent team members from engaging in protected concerted activity under the NLRA.

Employees may be subject to disciplinary action, up to and including termination of employment, for violations of this policy.

11.7 Personnel Files

Parakeet maintains separate medical records files and personnel files for all team members. Files containing medical records are stored separate and apart from any business-related records in a safe, locked, inaccessible location.

The medical file is the repository for sensitive and confidential information related to an individual's health, health benefits, health-related leave and/or accommodations, and benefits selections and coverage. Medical records are kept confidential in compliance with applicable laws and access is on a "need-to-know" basis only.

Supervisors and others in management may have access to your personnel file for possible employment-related decisions. Upon written request, the Company will provide you the opportunity to review your personnel file or will provide you with a copy of your personnel file. Inspection must occur in the presence of a Company representative during normal working hours.

All requests by an outside party for information contained in your personnel file will be directed to the Human Resources Department, which is the only department authorized to give out such information.

11.8 Personal Data Changes

You must provide Parakeet with your current contact information, including your current mailing address and telephone number. Inform the Company of any changes to your marital or tax withholding status.

Failure to do so may result in loss of benefits or delayed receipt of W-2 and other mailings. To make changes to your personal information on record, please contact the Payroll Department.

11.9 Employment Verification Requests

Generally, the Company will respond to inquiries about current or former employees by confirming only dates of employment and position(s) held. All inquiries regarding current or previous employees must be referred to Human Resources. Supervisors are not authorized to verify employment for current or past employees on the Company's behalf.

12.0 WORKPLACE POSTERS

In this section you will find copies of various workplace postings that the Company is required to provide you under federal law. These posters are, to large extent, duplicative of policies contained elsewhere in this Handbook; however, you should still review each one carefully as they provide you with critical information regarding wage and hour rules, workplace safety, leaves of absence, and other labor and employment issues. Please note that in the unlikely event of a conflict between the Company's policies and the postings below, the official postings shall govern.

12.2 Occupational Safety & Health Administration – "Job Safety and Health"

Job Safety and Health
IT'S THE LAW!

OSHA® Occupational Safety and Health Administration
U.S. Department of Labor

All workers have the right to:

- A safe workplace.

12.3 Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA)

EMPLOYEE RIGHTS

UNDER THE FAIR LABOR STANDARDS ACT

FEDERAL MINIMUM WAGE

$7.25 PER HOUR

BEGINNING JULY 24, 2009

The law requires employers to display this poster where employees can readily see it.

OVERTIME PAY

At least 1½ times the regular rate of pay for all hours worked over 40 in a workweek.

CHILD LABOR

An employee must be at least 16 years old to work in most non-farm jobs and at least 18 to work in non-farm jobs declared hazardous by the Secretary of Labor. Youths 14 and 15 years old may work outside school hours in various non-manufacturing, non-mining, non-hazardous jobs with certain work hours restrictions. Different rules apply in agricultural employment.

TIP CREDIT

Employers of "tipped employees" who meet certain conditions may claim a partial wage credit based on tips received by their employees. Employers must pay tipped employees a cash wage of at least $2.13 per hour if they claim a tip credit against their minimum wage obligation. If an employee's tips combined with the employer's cash wage of at least $2.13 per hour do not equal the minimum hourly wage, the employer must make up the difference.

PUMP AT WORK

The FLSA requires employers to provide reasonable break time for a nursing employee to express breast milk for their nursing child for one year after the child's birth each time the employee needs to express breast milk. Employers must provide a place, other than a bathroom, that is shielded from view and free from intrusion from coworkers and the public, which may be used by the employee to express breast milk.

ENFORCEMENT

The Department has authority to recover back wages and an equal amount in liquidated damages in instances of minimum wage, overtime, and other violations. The Department may litigate and/or recommend criminal prosecution. Employers may be assessed civil money penalties for each willful or repeated violation of the minimum wage or overtime pay provisions of the law. Civil money penalties may also be assessed for violations of the FLSA's child labor provisions. Heightened civil money penalties may be assessed for each child labor violation that results in the death or serious injury of any minor employee, and such assessments may be doubled when the violations are determined to be willful or repeated. The law also prohibits retaliating against or discharging workers who file a complaint or participate in any proceeding under the FLSA.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

- Certain occupations and establishments are exempt from the minimum wage, and/or overtime pay provisions. Certain narrow exemptions also apply to the pump at work requirements.
- Special provisions apply to workers in American Samoa, the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands, and the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico.
- Some state laws provide greater employee protections; employers must comply with both.
- Some employers incorrectly classify workers as "independent contractors" when they are actually employees under the FLSA. It is important to know the difference between the two because employees (unless exempt) are entitled to the FLSA's minimum wage and overtime pay protections and correctly classified independent contractors are not.
- Certain full-time students, student learners, apprentices, and workers with disabilities may be paid less than the minimum wage under special certificates issued by the Department of Labor.

DERECHOS DE LOS TRABAJADORES

BAJO LA LEY DE NORMAS JUSTAS DE TRABAJO (FLSA–siglas en inglés)

SALARIO MÍNIMO FEDERAL

$7.25 POR HORA

A PARTIR DEL 24 DE JULIO DE 2009

La ley exige que los empleadores exhiban este cartel donde sea visible por los empleados.

PAGO POR SOBRETIEMPO

Por lo menos tiempo y medio (1½) de la tasa regular de pago por todas las horas trabajadas en exceso de 40 en una semana laboral.

TRABAJO DE MENORES DE EDAD

El empleado tiene que tener por lo menos 16 años para trabajar en la mayoría de los trabajos no agrícolas y por lo menos 18 años para trabajar en los trabajos no agrícolas declarados peligrosos por la Secretaría de Trabajo. Los menores de 14 y 15 años pueden trabajar fuera del horario escolar en varias ocupaciones que no sean de manufactura, de minería, y que no sean peligrosas con ciertas restricciones al horario de trabajo. Se aplican distintos reglamentos al empleo agrícola.

CRÉDITO POR PROPINAS

Los empleadores de "empleados que reciben propinas" que cumplan con ciertas condiciones, pueden reclamar un crédito de salario parcial basado en las propinas recibidas por sus empleados. Los empleadores les tienen que pagar a los empleados que reciben propinas un salario en efectivo de por lo menos $2.13 por hora si ellos reclaman un crédito de propinas contra su obligación de pagar el salario mínimo. Si las propinas recibidas por el empleado combinadas con el salario en efectivo de por lo menos $2.13 por hora del empleador no equivalen al salario mínimo por hora, el empleador tiene que compensar la diferencia.

EXTRACCIÓN EN EL TRABAJO

La FLSA requiere que los empleadores proporcionen un tiempo de descanso razonable para que un empleado pueda extraerse leche de los pechos para el/la bebé que esté amamantando durante un año después del nacimiento del/de la niño(a) cada vez que la empleada necesite extraerse leche. Empleadores deben proveer un lugar, que no sea un cuarto de baño, que esté ocultado de la vista y libre de intrusión de parte de compañeros de trabajo y del público, el cual la empleada podría usar para extraerse leche.

CUMPLIMIENTO

El Departamento tiene la autoridad de recuperar salarios retroactivos y una cantidad igual en daños y perjuicios en casos de incumplimientos con el salario mínimo, sobretiempo y otros incumplimientos. El Departamento puede litigar y/o recomendar un enjuiciamiento criminal. A los empleadores se les pueden imponer sanciones pecuniarias civiles por cada incumplimiento deliberado o repetido de las disposiciones de la ley del pago del salario mínimo o de sobretiempo. También se pueden imponer sanciones pecuniarias civiles por incumplimiento con las disposiciones de la FLSA sobre el trabajo de menores de edad. Además, se pueden imponer sanciones pecuniarias civiles incrementadas por cada incumplimiento con el trabajo de menores que resulte en la muerte o una lesión seria de un empleado menor de edad, y tales avaluaciones pueden duplicarse cuando se determina que los incumplimientos fueron deliberados o repetidos. La ley también prohíbe tomar represalias o despedir a los trabajadores que presenten una queja o que participen en cualquier proceso bajo la FLSA.

INFORMACIÓN ADICIONAL

- Ciertas ocupaciones y ciertos establecimientos están exentos de las disposiciones del salario mínimo, y/o de las disposiciones del pago de sobretiempo.
- Se aplican disposiciones especiales a trabajadores de Samoa Americana, del Estado Libre Asociado de las Islas Marianas del Norte y del Estado Libre Asociado de Puerto Rico.
- Algunas leyes estatales proporcionan protecciones más amplias a los trabajadores; los empleadores tienen que cumplir con ambas.
- Algunos empleadores clasifican incorrectamente a sus trabajadores como "contratistas independientes" cuando en realidad son empleados según la FLSA. Es importante conocer la diferencia entre los dos porque los empleados (a menos que estén exentos) tienen derecho a las protecciones del salario mínimo y del pago de sobretiempo bajo la FLSA y los contratistas correctamente clasificados como independientes no lo tienen.
- A ciertos estudiantes de tiempo completo, estudiantes alumnos, aprendices, y trabajadores con discapacidades se les puede pagar menos que el salario mínimo bajo certificados especiales expedidos por el Departamento de Trabajo.

12.4 Family & Medical Leave Act (FMLA)

Your Employee Rights Under the Family and Medical Leave Act

What is FMLA leave?

The Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA) is a federal law that provides eligible employees with job-protected leave for qualifying family and medical reasons. The U.S. Department of Labor's Wage and Hour Division (WHD) enforces the FMLA for most employees.

Eligible employees can take up to 12 workweeks of FMLA leave in a 12-month period for:

- The birth, adoption or foster placement of a child with you,
- Your serious mental or physical health condition that makes you unable to work,
- To care for your spouse, child or parent with a serious mental or physical health condition, and
- Certain qualifying reasons related to the foreign deployment of your spouse, child or parent who is a military servicemember.

An eligible employee who is the spouse, child, parent or next of kin of a covered servicemember with a serious injury or illness may take up to 26 workweeks of FMLA leave in a single 12-month period to care for the servicemember.

You have the right to use FMLA leave in one block of time. When it is medically necessary or otherwise permitted, you may take FMLA leave intermittently in separate blocks of time, or on a reduced schedule by working less hours each day or week. Read Fact Sheet #28M(c) for more information.

FMLA leave is not paid leave, but you may choose, or be required by your employer, to use any employer-provided paid leave if your employer's paid leave policy covers the reason for which you need FMLA leave.

Am I eligible to take FMLA leave?

You are an eligible employee if all of the following apply:

- You work for a covered employer,
- You have worked for your employer at least 12 months,
- You have at least 1,250 hours of service for your employer during the 12 months before your leave, and
- Your employer has at least 50 employees within 75 miles of your work location.

Airline flight crew employees have different "hours of service" requirements.

You work for a covered employer if one of the following applies:

- You work for a private employer that had at least 50 employees during at least 20 workweeks in the current or previous calendar year,
- You work for an elementary or public or private secondary school, or
- You work for a public agency, such as a local, state or federal government agency. Most federal employees are covered by Title II of the FMLA, administered by the Office of Personnel Management.

How do I request FMLA leave?

Generally, to request FMLA leave you must:

- Follow your employer's normal policies for requesting leave,
- Give notice at least 30 days before your need for FMLA leave, or
- If advance notice is not possible, give notice as soon as possible.

You do not have to share a medical diagnosis but must provide enough information to your employer so they can determine whether the leave qualifies for FMLA protection. You must also inform your employer if FMLA leave was previously taken or approved for the same reason when requesting additional leave.

Your employer may request certification from a health care provider to verify medical leave and may request certification of a qualifying exigency.

The FMLA does not affect any federal or state law prohibiting discrimination or supersede any state or local law or collective bargaining agreement that provides greater family or medical leave rights.

State employees may be subject to certain limitations in pursuit of direct lawsuits regarding leave for their own serious health conditions. Most federal and certain congressional employees are also covered by the law but are subject to the jurisdiction of the U.S. Office of Personnel Management or Congress.

What does my employer need to do?

If you are eligible for FMLA leave, your employer must:

- Allow you to take job-protected time off work for a qualifying reason,
- Continue your group health plan coverage while you are on leave on the same basis as if you had not taken leave, and
- Allow you to return to the same job, or a virtually identical job with the same pay, benefits and other working conditions, including shift and location, at the end of your leave.

Your employer cannot interfere with your FMLA rights or threaten or punish you for exercising your rights under the law. For example, your employer cannot retaliate against you for requesting FMLA leave or cooperating with a WHD investigation.

After becoming aware that your need for leave is for a reason that may qualify under the FMLA, your employer must confirm whether you are eligible or not eligible for FMLA leave. If your employer determines that you are eligible, your employer must notify you in writing:

- About your FMLA rights and responsibilities, and
- How much of your requested leave, if any, will be FMLA-protected leave.

Where can I find more information?

Call 1-866-487-9243 or visit dol.gov/fmla to learn more.

If you believe your rights under the FMLA have been violated, you may file a complaint with WHD or file a private lawsuit against your employer in court. Scan the QR code to learn about our WHD complaint process.

Sus derechos de personal según la Ley de Licencia Familiar y Médica ¿Qué es una licencia de FMLA?

La Ley de Licencia Familiar y Médica (FMLA, por sus siglas en inglés) es una ley federal que proporciona al personal elegible licencias con protección del empleo por razones familiares y médicas que califiquen. La División de Horas y Salarios (WHD, por sus siglas en inglés) del Departamento de Trabajo de EE. UU. hace cumplir la FMLA para la mayoría del personal.

El personal elegible puede tomarse licencias de FMLA de hasta 12 semanas de trabajo en un periodo de 12 meses por:

- El nacimiento, la adopción o la ubicación de hogar adoptivo de un niño o niña,
- Un problema grave de salud mental o físico que le impide trabajar,
- El cuidado de su cónyuge, hijos, hijas o padres con enfermedades mentales o físicas graves, y
- Ciertas razones que califican, relacionadas con la asignación de su cónyuge, hijo, hija, padre o madre en el servicio militar.

El personal que sea cónyuge, hijo, hija, padre, madre o familiar cercano de una persona cubierta en el servicio militar con una lesión o enfermedad grave puede tomarse una licencia de FMLA de hasta 26 semanas de trabajo en un solo periodo de 12 meses para cuidar a la persona en servicio.

Puede que usted tenga derecho a usar la licencia de FMLA en un bloque de tiempo. Cuando haya una necesidad médica o se permita por otro motivo, puede tomar una licencia de FMLA de forma intermitente en bloques separados, o con un horario reducido trabajando menos horas al día o a la semana. Lea la hoja informativa #28M(c) para obtener más información.

La licencia de FMLA no es una licencia paga, pero usted puede elegir, o puede que su empresa le exija, utilizar cualquier licencia paga proporcionada por la empresa si la política de licencias de su empresa cubre el motivo por el cuál necesita una licencia de FMLA.

¿Soy elegible para tomar una licencia de FMLA?

Usted es elegible si aplican todas las siguientes condiciones:

- Trabaja para una empresa cubierta,
- Ha trabajado para su empresa durante al menos 12 meses,
- Tiene al menos 1250 horas de servicio para su empresa durante los 12 meses previos a su licencia, y
- Su empresa tiene al menos 50 integrantes del personal dentro de las 75 millas desde su lugar de trabajo.

El personal de tripulación de vuelo tiene requisitos de "horas de servicio" diferentes.

Trabaja para una empresa cubierta si aplica una de las siguientes condiciones:

- Trabaja para una empresa privada que tiene al menos 50 integrantes del personal durante al menos 20 semanas laborales en el año actual o anterior,
- Trabaja para una escuela primaria o secundaria pública o privada, o
- Trabaja para una agencia pública, como una agencia gubernamental local, estatal o federal. La mayoría del personal está cubierta por el Título II de la FMLA, administrada por la Oficina de Administración de Personal.

¿Cómo solicito una licencia de FMLA?

En general, para solicitar una licencia de FMLA usted debe:

- Seguir las políticas regulares de su empresa para solicitar licencias,
- Avisar con al menos 30 días de anticipación que necesita una licencia de FMLA, o
- Si no es posible avisar con anticipación, avisar tan pronto sea posible.

Usted no tiene obligación de compartir un diagnóstico médico, pero debe proporcionar información suficiente para que su empresa pueda determinar si la licencia califica para la protección de la FMLA. Usted también debe informar a su empresa si se tomó una licencia de FMLA anteriormente o se aprobó por el mismo motivo al solicitar una licencia adicional.

Su empresa puede solicitar certificación de un prestador de atención médica para verificar la licencia médica y puede solicitar certificación de una exigencia que califique.

La FMLA no afecta ninguna ley federal o estatal que prohíba la discriminación, ni invalida ninguna ley estatal o local o acuerdo colectivo que proporcione mayores derechos de licencia familiar o médica.

El personal estatal puede estar sujeto a ciertas limitaciones al buscar demandas directas con respecto a licencias por sus propias condiciones graves de salud. La mayor parte del personal federal y cierta parte del congresional también está cubierta por la ley, pero está sujeta a la jurisdicción de la Oficina de Administración de Personal de EE. UU. o al Congreso.

¿Qué debe hacer mi empresa?

Si usted es elegible para una licencia de FMLA, su empresa debe:

- Permitirle que se ausente del trabajo con su empleo protegido, por un motivo que califique,
- Continuar su plan de cobertura grupal de salud mientras se encuentra de licencia, de la misma forma que si no estuviera de licencia, y
- Permitirle regresar al mismo empleo, o a un empleo virtualmente igual con el mismo salario, los mismos beneficios y otras condiciones de trabajo, incluidos los turnos y la ubicación, al finalizar su licencia.

Su empresa no puede interferir con sus derechos de la FMLA ni amenazar ni castigarle por ejercer sus derechos en virtud de la ley. Por ejemplo, su empleador no puede tomar represalias contra usted por solicitar una licencia de FMLA o cooperar con una investigación de WHD.

Tras tomar conocimiento de que su necesidad de tomar una licencia es por un motivo que califica según la FMLA, su empresa debe confirmar si usted es elegible o no para la licencia de la FMLA. Si su empresa determina que usted es elegible, su empresa debe notificarle por escrito:

- Sobre sus derechos y responsabilidades en virtud de la FMLA, y
- Qué parte de su licencia solicitada, si la hubiera, será protegida por la FMLA.

¿Dónde puedo encontrar más información?

Llame al 1-866-487-9243 o visite dol.gov/fmla para conocer más.

Si cree que sus derechos según la FMLA han sido violados, puede presentar una denuncia ante la WHD o presentar una demanda privada contra su empresa en la corte. Escanee el código QR para conocer más sobre el proceso de denuncias de la WHD.

12.5 Uniformed Services Employment & Reemployment Act (USERRA)

YOUR RIGHTS UNDER USERRA
THE UNIFORMED SERVICES EMPLOYMENT AND REEMPLOYMENT RIGHTS ACT

USERRA protects the job rights of individuals who voluntarily or involuntarily leave employment positions to undertake military service or certain types of service in the National Disaster Medical System. USERRA also prohibits employers from discriminating against past and present members of the uniformed services, and applicants to the uniformed services.

REEMPLOYMENT RIGHTS

You have the right to be reemployed in your civilian job if you leave that job to perform service in the uniformed service and:

- ☆ you ensure that your employer receives advance written or verbal notice of your service;
- ☆ you have five years or less of cumulative service in the uniformed services while with that particular employer;
- ☆ you return to work or apply for reemployment in a timely manner after conclusion of service; and
- ☆ you have not been separated from service with a disqualifying discharge or under other than honorable conditions.

If you are eligible to be reemployed, you must be restored to the job and benefits you would have attained if you had not been absent due to military service or, in some cases, a comparable job.

RIGHT TO BE FREE FROM DISCRIMINATION AND RETALIATION

If you:

- ☆ are a past or present member of the uniformed service;
- ☆ have applied for membership in the uniformed service; or
- ☆ are obligated to serve in the uniformed service;

then an employer may not deny you:

- ☆ initial employment;
- ☆ reemployment;
- ☆ retention in employment;
- ☆ promotion; or
- ☆ any benefit of employment

because of this status.

In addition, an employer may not retaliate against anyone assisting in the enforcement of USERRA rights, including testifying or making a statement in connection with a proceeding under USERRA, even if that person has no service connection.

HEALTH INSURANCE PROTECTION

- ☆ If you leave your job to perform military service, you have the right to elect to continue your existing employer-based health plan coverage for you and your dependents for up to 24 months while in the military.
- ☆ Even if you don't elect to continue coverage during your military service, you have the right to be reinstated in your employer's health plan when you are reemployed, generally without any waiting periods or exclusions (e.g., pre-existing condition exclusions) except for service-connected illnesses or injuries.

ENFORCEMENT

- ☆ The U.S. Department of Labor, Veterans Employment and Training Service (VETS) is authorized to investigate and resolve complaints of USERRA violations.
- ☆ For assistance in filing a complaint, or for any other information on USERRA, contact VETS at 1-866-4-USA-DOL or visit its website at https://www.dol.gov/agencies/vets/. An interactive online USERRA Advisor can be viewed at https://webapps.dol.gov/elaws/vets/userra
- ☆ If you file a complaint with VETS and VETS is unable to resolve it, you may request that your case be referred to the Department of Justice or the Office of Special Counsel, as applicable, for representation.
- ☆ You may also bypass the VETS process and bring a civil action against an employer for violations of USERRA.

The rights listed here may vary depending on the circumstances. The text of this notice was prepared by VETS, and may be viewed on the internet at this address: https://www.dol.gov/agencies/vets/programs/userra/poster Federal law requires employers to notify employees of their rights under USERRA, and employers may meet this requirement by displaying the text of this notice where they customarily place notices for employees.

12.7 U.S. Department of Justice – "Right to Work"

IF YOU HAVE THE RIGHT TO WORK

DON'T LET ANYONE TAKE IT AWAY

If you have the skills, experience, and legal right to work, your citizenship or immigration status shouldn't get in the way. Neither should the place you were born or another aspect of your national origin. A part of U.S. immigration laws protects legally-authorized workers from discrimination based on their citizenship status and national origin. You can read this law at 8 U.S.C. § 1324b.

The Immigrant and Employee Rights Section (IER) may be able to help if an employer treats you unfairly in violation of this law.

The law that IER enforces is 8 U.S.C. § 1324b. The regulations for this law are at 28 C.F.R. Part 44.

Call IER if an employer:

Does not hire you or fires you because of your national origin or citizenship status (this may violate a part of the law at 8 U.S.C. § 1324b(a)(1))

Treats you unfairly while checking your right to work in the U.S., including while completing the Form I-9 or using E-Verify (this may violate the law at 8 U.S.C. § 1324b(a)(1) or (a)(6))

Retaliates against you because you are speaking up for your right to work as protected by this law (the law prohibits retaliation at 8 U.S.C. § 1324b(a)(5))

The law can be complicated. Call IER to get more information on protections from discrimination based on citizenship status and national origin.

SI USTED TIENE DERECHO A TRABAJAR

NO DEJE QUE NADIE SE LO QUITE

Si usted dispone de las capacidades, experiencia y derecho legal a trabajar, su estatus migratorio o de ciudadanía no debe representar un obstáculo, ni tampoco lo debe ser el lugar en que usted nació o ningún otro aspecto de su nacionalidad de origen. Existe una parte de las leyes migratorias de los EE. UU. que protegen a los trabajadores que cuentan con la debida autorización legal para trabajar de la discriminación por motivos de su estatus de ciudadanía o nacionalidad de origen. Puede consultar esta ley contenida en la Sección 1324b del Título 8 del Código de los EE. UU.

Es posible que la Sección de Derechos de Inmigrantes y Empleados (IER, por sus siglas en inglés) pueda ayudar si un empleador lo trata de una forma injusta, en contra de esta ley.

La ley que hace cumplir la IER es la Sección 1324b del Título 8 del Código de los EE. UU. Los reglamentos de dicha ley se encuentran en la Parte 44 del Título 28 del Código de Reglamentos Federales.

Llame a la IER si un empleador:

No lo contrata o lo despide a causa de su nacionalidad de origen o estatus de ciudadanía (esto podría representar una vulneración de parte de la ley contenida en la Sección 1324b(a)(1) del Título 8 del Código de los EE. UU.)

Lo trata de una manera injusta a la forma de comprobar su derecho a trabajar en los EE. UU., incluyendo al completar el Formulario I-9 o utilizar E-Verify (esto podría representar una vulneración de la ley contenida en la Sección 1324b(a)(1) o (a)(6) del Título 8 del Código de los EE. UU.)

Toma represalias en su contra por haber defendido su derecho a trabajar al amparo de esta ley (la ley prohíbe las represalias, según se indica en la Sección 1324b(a)(5) del Título 8 del Código de los EE. UU.)

Esta ley puede ser complicada. Llame a la IER para más información sobre las protecciones existentes contra la discriminación por motivos del estatus de ciudadanía o la nacionalidad de origen.

12.8 Employee Polygraph Protection Act (EPPA)

EMPLOYEE RIGHTS

EMPLOYEE POLYGRAPH PROTECTION ACT

The Employee Polygraph Protection Act prohibits most private employers from using lie detector tests either for pre-employment screening or during the course of employment.

PROHIBITIONS

Employers are generally prohibited from requiring or requesting any employee or job applicant to take a lie detector test, and from discharging, disciplining, or discriminating against an employee or prospective employee for refusing to take a test or for exercising other rights under the Act.

EXEMPTIONS

Federal, State and local governments are not affected by the law. Also, the law does not apply to tests given by the Federal Government to certain private individuals engaged in national security-related activities.

The Act permits polygraph (a kind of lie detector) tests to be administered in the private sector, subject to restrictions, to certain prospective employees of security service firms (armored car, alarm, and guard), and of pharmaceutical manufacturers, distributors and dispensers.

The Act also permits polygraph testing, subject to restrictions, of certain employees of private firms who are reasonably suspected of involvement in a workplace incident (theft, embezzlement, etc.) that resulted in economic loss to the employer.

The law does not preempt any provision of any State or local law or any collective bargaining agreement which is more restrictive with respect to lie detector tests.

EXAMINEE RIGHTS

Where polygraph tests are permitted, they are subject to numerous strict standards concerning the conduct and length of the test. Examinees have a number of specific rights, including the right to a written notice before testing, the right to refuse or discontinue a test, and the right not to have test results disclosed to unauthorized persons.

ENFORCEMENT

The Secretary of Labor may bring court actions to restrain violations and assess civil penalties against violators. Employees or job applicants may also bring their own court actions.

THE LAW REQUIRES EMPLOYERS TO DISPLAY THIS POSTER WHERE EMPLOYEES AND JOB APPLICANTS CAN READILY SEE IT.

DERECHOS DEL EMPLEADO

LEY PARA LA PROTECCIÓN DEL EMPLEADO CONTRA LA PRUEBA DEL POLÍGRAFO

La Ley Para La Protección del Empleado contra la Prueba de Polígrafo le prohíbe a la mayoría de los empleadores del sector privado que utilice pruebas con detectores de mentiras durante el período de pre-empleo o durante el servicio de empleo.

PROHIBICIONES

Generalmente se le prohíbe al empleador que le exija o requiera a un empleado o a un solicitante a un trabajo que se someta a una prueba con detector de mentiras, y que despida, discipline, o discrimine de ninguna forma contra un empleado o contra un aspirante a un trabajo por haberse negado a someterse a la prueba o por haberse acogido a otros derechos establecidos por la Ley.

EXENCIONES

Esta Ley no afecta a los empleados de los gobiernos federal, estatales y locales. Tampoco se aplica a las pruebas que el Gobierno Federal les administra a ciertos individuos del sector privado que trabajan en actividades relacionadas con la seguridad nacional.

La Ley permite la administración de pruebas de polígrafo (un tipo de detector de mentiras) en el sector privado, sujeta a ciertas restricciones, a ciertos aspirantes para empleos en compañías de seguridad (vehículos blindados, sistemas de alarma y guardias). También se les permite el uso de éstas a compañías que fabrican, distribuyen y dispensan productos farmacéuticos.

La Ley también permite la administración de estas pruebas de polígrafo, sujeta a ciertas restricciones, a empleados de empresas privadas que estén bajo sospecha razonable de estar involucrados en un incidente en el sitio de empleo (tal como un robo, desfalco, etc.) que le haya ocasionado daños económicos al empleador.

La Ley no substituye ninguna provisión de cualquier otra ley estatal o local ni tampoco a tratos colectivos que sean más rigurosos con respecto a las pruebas de polígrafo.

DERECHOS DE LOS EXAMINADOS

En casos en que se permitan las pruebas de polígrafo, éstas deben ser administradas bajo una cantidad de normas estrictas en cuanto a su administración y duración. Los examinados tienen un número de derechos específicos, incluyendo el derecho de advertencia por escrito antes de someterse a la prueba, el derecho a negarse a someterse a la prueba o a descontinuarla, al igual que el derecho a negarse a que los resultados de la prueba estén al alcance de personas no autorizadas

CUMPLIMIENTO

El/La Secretario(a) de Trabajo puede entablar pleitos para impedir violaciones y puede imponer penas pecuniarias civiles contra los violadores. Los empleados o solicitantes a empleo también tienen derecho a entablar sus propios pleitos en los tribunales.
